LOCAL POSTOFFICE TO TAKE CENSUS OF UNEMPLOYED IN COUNTY

Reports Must Be Filed From Nov. 16 to 20, Inclusive—Census Will Include Unemployed, Those Who Wish Employment and PWA Workers.

The government has placed quite a gigantic task on the thousands of postoffices over the country.

Bay St. Louis and Hancock county is no exception. Post Master Leo G. Ford and assistants will have a big job receiving cards filed by the unemployed, between the dates of November 16 and 20. Four days for a big task, but it must be done. The government has so prescribed.

Bay St. Louis postoffice will be headquarters for practically all the county with few exceptions, Kiln, Logtown-Pearlinton, Waveland and Ansey.

Here is the message of the President, addressed to every worker:

"If you are unemployed or partly unemployed, and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, November 20, 1937. No postage is needed."

"The Congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest, and accurate. If you give me the facts, I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it."

Registration cards are now available at the Bay St. Louis postoffice. There are many questions to be answered and it is going to take a little time to write all answers.

These cards are to be filled by the unemployed, persons wishing employment and only temporarily engaged; PWA workers and others seeking livelihood.

The government is desirous of procuring a complete country-wide census and possibly from the figures to evolve a plan whereby to solve the problem of the unemployed. Parties interested directly and others wishing to help may apply at the postoffice and gain more detailed and definite information.

The cards may be procured now and must be filed in four days time—between the 16 and 20, four days. It is going to be a whirlwind campaign, so speak. Postmaster Ford says it will be necessary to temporarily augment the present post-office force by additional clerical help.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE AT NITE CLUB SCORED OVERWHELMINGLY

Miss Isabelle Miller, Junior "Miss New Orleans" and Big Apple Dance Features.

The All Hallowe'en dance at Uncle Charlie's beautiful nite club on the evening of Saturday last, scored overwhelmingly and that in more ways than one. The success of the affair was best attested by the many attending and the subsequent expressions that followed, all overjoyed at the delightful evening that the prince of night club conductors, Mr. Chas. A. Breath, Sr. (Uncle Charlie) amply proves the statement.

Mr. Breath's nite club is the oldest on the Coast. It has stood the vicissitudes of time, the test of demand and survived the toll of sameness. But the latter is best met with by the fact Mr. Breath has something always new and gets away from the monotony of sameness.

Last Saturday night Miss Isabelle Miller, "Junior Miss New Orleans," the title she won in contest over many competitors, gave several numbers of fancy dancing and the applaud she received from the success scored was well deserved.

Miss Miller is a most attractive personality, engaging and is exceedingly popular wherever she is known. Bay St. Louis gave Miss Miller a unanimous welcome at the Hallowe'en celebration of the club. She was truly a high spot of the program.

The new dance, "big apple," was such a success that by popular request Uncle Charlie has decided to repeat this feature on the evening of Saturday, November 20, at his Thanksgiving dance, and will award two trophies respectively to the best lady and gentleman dancer.

As on Saturday evening last favors will again be distributed, appropriate to the Thanksgiving season. The program for this celebration is in the formulative plan, but there will be plenty doing Saturday night.

F. J. BOPP ELECTED V. PRES'T

Southern Mississippi District Of Tenn.-Miss. Sheriff Association.

Bay St. Louis was given marked recognition this week at Hattiesburg at the convention of Tennessee-Mississippi Sheriff and Peace Officers' Association when Chief Deputy Sheriff F. J. Bopp of Hancock county, was elected vice president for the southern district of Mississippi.

The election was by overwhelming vote and the trust and compliment were worthily bestowed. Deputy Sheriff Bopp one of the most all-round efficient men that ever occupied the office.

The convention was numerously attended, several hundred sheriffs and peace officers from over the two states being present. Mr. Bopp says the convention was one of the most constructive and its deliberations were such as to prove of much benefit.

For next year the spring meeting will be held at Knoxville, Tenn., and the fall meeting at Gulfport, Miss.

VESSEL BURNS TO WATER'S EDGE IN BAY SAINT LOUIS

Boat of Chester Randolph Sinks—Five Aboard Rescued—One to Hospital.

A cabin boat on fire south of the L. & N. railroad bridge in the waters of the bay caught fire from an explosion caused by backfire Saturday night about 7 o'clock and presented quite a spectacular scene, with hundreds of people lined along the shores watching.

Five people were aboard and their safety in jeopardy caused concern all the more. Fortunately the craft was in water slightly beyond the bath-house limit and water, with a low tide, was not too deep to make jumping over board safely possible.

The boat drifted ablaze and contacted with the L. & N. railroad bridge and a span of that structure soon was connected with the flames and proceeded to burn but was extinguished and not until a thorough examination had been made by railroad workmen were trains allowed to proceed. The damage to the bridge was only on surface and negligible. Quick action saved it from serious result.

Louis Hill of Bay St. Louis, sustained burns on face and a hand and was forced outward from the stern of the boat by the force of the explosion.

Chester Randolph, brother of the owner of the 26-foot vessel, was aboard with his wife and two children, a son and daughter. Mrs. Randolph leaped overboard holding above the water her young daughter while the father remained on board as long as possible holding the boy. He remained on vessel until rescued by a skiff which had been put out from shore when the blaze was discovered by Horace Farr, James Taconi and Lloyd Ladner, all well known young Bay St. Louis men.

Hill, whose injury was painful, was treated at the local King's Daughters Hospital. The party was none the worse for their experience save for the excitement and general shakeup. They showed considerable courage and managed to escape serious injury.

of last week. It has been suggested to make early reservations.

Miss Isabelle Miller was accompanied to Bay St. Louis by her father and mother. This was Mr. Miller's first visit, and he expressed himself most favorably impressed on the beauty and success of Bay St. Louis. Uncle Charlie's Nite Club.

RIGHT-OF-WAY ACT IN COAST HIGHWAY CONTENTION UPHELD

Harrison County Chancery Court Sustains Seawall Strip Title Unassailable.

Constitutionality of a special legislative act of 1924 under which the county acquired title to a 50-foot right-of-way abutting the Harrison county seawall was upheld in an option Saturday at Gulfport by Chancellor D. M. Russell.

The decision was given by an injunction suit brought by Harrison county agent Bernard Henritz for removal of a concrete structure on the right-of-way at the foot of DeBuys road.

The court also upheld the county's contention that through a law of adverse possession the county's title to the property was unassailable.

It was understood the case would be appealed to the supreme court.

When the Harrison county seawall was constructed over ten years ago a special act of the legislature making it possible to finance the structure was enacted dedicating a 50-foot right-of-way abutting the seawall for a public highway. It is this strip the highway department will be asked to hard-surface, to give the coast a double-highway along the seawall and which Gov. White recently endorsed. It was the beach road the Governor gave his O. K. for hardsurfacing by the State and not the back road.

At noon a barbecue lunch will be served in the Gym. Brother Gonzalez, chef, has obtained the services of a barbecue of note who will prepare the meats Saturday. A number of ladies under the leadership of Mrs. E. C. Carrere, president of the Mothers' Club, will assist in the serving.

The annual Homecoming football game between S. J. Peters Commercial High School of New Orleans and the college team will take place promptly at 2:30 P. M.

From the looks of things so far, this will be one of the biggest Homecoming days in the near past.

GOVERNMENT TO HOLD HEARING OF PROPOSED BAYOU GELAIRE PROJECT

Public Hearing Before U. S. Engineer to Be Held at Bay St. Louis County Courthouse Friday Afternoon, November 12—Public Asked to Express Views On Necessity of Improvement.

Missionary Society To Observe Week of Prayer, Nov. 7-13.

The annual Week of Prayer of the Womans Missionary Society will be observed from November 7 to 13th, inclusive. Public services will be held at Main Street Methodist Church as follows: Monday afternoon at 3:30, with Mrs. C. C. McDonald conducting the exercises; Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock (immediately following the usual weekly Bible study), with Mrs. E. Mogabag as leader, and Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, with Mrs. C. M. Shipp as leader.

Special music will be furnished Wednesday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Carl Smith. The contributions this year will be applied to the support of retired missionaries and deaconesses.

Dr. Southernland reviewed the history and origin of the junior colleges in the state. He said: "Back in 1891 the people of the rural sections of Mississippi made a demand for better opportunities of education, in comparison with the advantages offered in the city schools. This was answered by inaugurating the agricultural high school system. Later on these high schools in some sections were made into junior colleges, by increasing facilities and adding two years of college work. At this time the state was zoned so that the number of junior colleges might be limited. There are twelve zones in the state with a total of eleven colleges at the present time. These colleges have an enrollment of a little over 3,000 students.

The speaker outlined the advantages of junior colleges, in that there was greater opportunity presented for leadership among students. More individual attention to requirements of students, much reduction in cost to students and per capita to state and county government. Because of these advantages, he continued "this system of college training in preparation for the future, should it be possible for the student to complete college training."

Miss Bessie Given will give a review of "So Victoria" by Vaughn Wilkins at the next meeting of the Book of the Month Club, which will be held at the Hotel Reed, Wednesday afternoon, November 10th, at 3:45 o'clock.

"So Victoria" has been widely read and discussed and the review promises to be an interesting one.

"Katrina" by Sally Salminep is a new book on the library shelves which has been receiving very favorable comments in reviews.

Another good book just in is "The Wind From The Mountain" by Tryoge Gubroussene.

Mrs. Rosa Sigerson has presented the library a number of books. And Mrs. C. C. McDonald has given some.

Miss May Edwards has been having book reviews at the various high schools in the county. Thursday, November 4th she gave a review of "Gone With The Wind" at the Selma high school.

For All Saints' Day "St. Mary's" showed equal care and attention as "Cedar Rest." The results of weeks of attention was apparent. Flowers of delicate color and fragrance were in evidence on all sides. It was the one day of the year particularly devoted to the memory of the departed, and as such received tribute in that fullest sense that we mortals here below know, groping in the dark, as it were, with our faith for the reconciliation hereafter and promise of the resurrection, as the one and only guiding light.

Calvary Group Removed.

Wreck of the Calvary group in St. Mary's had been removed and only the huge cross on the mound that centers the cemetery remains. It will be remembered some months ago an act of vandalism and desecration had been committed by unknown ones. The Crucified Figure on the cross had been battered with the butt of a heavy timber apparently to be unrecognizable, while the group of two women weeping at the cross had been destroyed. Fragments of the two had been removed but that of Christ allowed

BONFIRE CELEBRATION

And General Pep Meeting on St. Stanislaus College Campus.

SATURDAY NIGHT, NOVEMBER 6th

in anticipation of Homecoming Day at St. Stanislaus College, Sunday, November 7, Bay St. Louis.

All football fans and friends of the college and the game in general are invited to be present. It will be a Pre-Homecoming Day Celebration.

JOIN IN THE BON FIRE CELEBRATION.

The pupils of Taylor School were entertained by the P. T. A. on Friday, October 29. The occasion was a Hallowe'en party. Refreshments in the form of cake, candy and hot chocolate were served to all present.

The children enjoyed about two hours of fun and frolic, for which they very graciously thank the members of Taylor School P. T. A.

This is quite an advertisement for Bay St. Louis soil and climate, semi-tropical, and Mr. Sick has demonstrated that plantains as well as many other things that are known in the tropics can be successfully grown locally.

WATCH OUT, "LITTLE FELLOWS."

Experts who have watched the gyrations of the stock market recently report that the "little fellow" has not been swept away by fluctuating prices but that, on the other hand, he remains a buyer.

Our own advice to "little fellows" is to get out of the stock market and stay out. While the newly promulgated regulations have done much to protect stray investors there is room for considerable improvement before the "little fellows" money will be safe in Wall Street operations.

If any reader of The Sea Coast Echo has some money to invest the chances are that opportunities exist locally, where he can keep his eye on what happens to the investment. If one must go into the stock market, do so only to invest funds that you wish to permanently allocate for that purpose. Buy stocks to hold, for their dividend possibilities and not because of any hunch that the market might have another surge upward.

Truth of the matter, the market will probably surge upward but that does not mean that the "little fellows" who play the big man's game will get out with heavy gains. It usually happens that the "little fellow" stays in too long. Besides he is playing another man's game and he hasn't the information that the big players have to guide their market operations.

WHO DRIVES THE SCHOOL BUS?

Nearly every year the people of this country read the harrowing retails of the death of school children killed when a railroad engine smashes into a bus.

The latest recorded tragedy occurred in Mason City, Iowa, when a streamlined train, not "going so very fast," hit a bus in the middle, killing nine persons instantly and seriously injuring others.

The drivers of school vehicles, as a general rule, are careful. It seems certain, however, that sometimes some of them take fearful chances and inevitably, tragedy results. The safety of pupils, who ride in a school bus, is in the keeping of the driver of the vehicle. Their lives can be safe only so long as the driver refuses to "take any chances."

School authorities in this country, upon reading of such terrible fatalities, should make it their business to check-up on the driving habits of all drivers entrusted with pupils. Highway patrolmen and other officers should make it their concern to know that the driver of any school bus is a safe driver. The major responsibility, however, rests upon school authorities who hire drivers; they should meet that responsibility and, if necessary, get other drivers.

NEW YORK'S MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

FIORELLA H. La Guardia, running on a Republican-labor fusion ticket, defeated Tammany's candidate for the mayoralty of New York City, Jeremiah T. Mahoney in Tuesday's election. La Guardia was nominee of the Republican-American Labor Fusion and Progressive parties.

Mahoney, Democratic nominee, was supported by Postmaster-General James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman. Farley stumped for Mahoney and shares in the defeat.

President Roosevelt, who held himself aloof in the New York municipal election, and on solicitation refused to intervene, was among the first to congratulate Mayor La Guardia upon his re-election, telephoning Fiorello from his Hyde Park home.

The Democrats seemed to have been beaten pretty much thru the entire ticket, even though all returns at this writing were not accounted for.

TRAIN TRAVEL VS. AUTO.

STATISTICS are not necessary to convince one that railroad traveling is far safer than auto transportation.

Railroad fatalities to passengers are far and between. In fact there are none. However, the automobile is taking its gigantic toll daily. Not in far-off places but right here at home, neighboring States, nearby cities. Names of victims are not strangers, but people whom we know.

Daily tragedies are common and are only too frequently in our voisinage, so to speak.

Let it be said to the good of the railroads, who contribute largely to our economic daily make-up, they are offering not only quick and clean transportation, comfort and convenience, but their mode of travel means for safety.

No better travel insurance than going and coming back by train.

PROTECTING OYSTER REEFS.

THE Mississippi Seafood Commission has ordered State-owned oyster reefs temporarily closed until such time the oyster will have attained a sufficient size and quality that will make it of more value and prevent depleting the reefs, too early a "harvest." Action of the Commission will be applauded. It means not only for better oysters but for protection of the reefs from the ravage that would result from too early tonging. It would virtually amount to a depletion of the Coast's basic industry.

THE OAKS THAT WERE.

WITH rapid invasion of commercialism our massive and majestic live oaks, are disappearing.

One remembers years ago when Bay St. Louis, as the sweet and passive village of the past, nestled in an emerald-hued setting of a long line of oaks—trees that had weathered the impelling demands of time counted in terms of centuries.

Priceless in age, rich in maturity and unmatched in beauty.

Who does not remember the wide-spreading oaks gracing the space fronting the Tulane apartment hotel, the clump of giant trees head of Main street, the pride and beauty of the oaks on the beach side immediately north of Union street. Seemingly impregnable, mighty and even though wide-spread towering to great height—awe inspiring.

Then down in the hollow, head Bookter awoke, were others.

But none exceeded the beach oaks head Washington street, finally victims of the elements. Fire and storm know no value, no sentiment, none of nature's beauty but were cruelly exacting in the ruthless wake of destruction. Mighty as they were they paled before the inevitable inroad of destruction.

Recently construction of a business building was begun on one of the beach corners where three bereft oaks were left from an original grove. They were a trio that invoked admiration. Nature's handiwork. The product of years that in practically a brief moment were ended. Never to be replaced.

Our remaining oaks are an asset. The hope is expressed that neither man nor the elements will seek further toll. We cannot make for replacement. We cannot give in return consideration of commensurate value.

Fools write poems, said Kilmer, but only God can make a tree.

MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES TO TAKE PLACE OF SAWMILLS.

GOV. WHITE'S plan of balancing agriculture with industry is quite fitting to the southern section of Mississippi as well as other parts.

South Mississippi is not a cotton-growing section in the sense of the term. While we may grow the staple it is not an accepted crop in that sense as obtains in the delta and other sections.

Our own staple crop is fast disappearing with the sawmills that exist no more. Our section of the state at one time was dotted with mills, the song of the saw was music. It meant for payrolls.

The industry employed our skilled and surplus labor, kept the tills of the merchant going and brought home the things that fill the family larder. It was a dependable industry as long as it continued. But today the scene has shifted and the story is changed. The music no longer is heard. The winds over vast acreage of cut-over pines sing in requiem.

In no place in the state will Gov. White's plan find a more ready and fitting reception. Towns and cities that are ailing from the inertia caused by the dearth of industry will respond to the plan. Manufacturing mills and plants are due. They will be the result of a natural sequence made possible by our Governor's adopted plan.

The South is the logical home for manufacturing industry. It is bound to come. Then it is no wonder the East is fighting this section. It is not going too far when we agree that the Black-Connery bill is aimed at this section.

GRAVEYARD OF THE PINES.

TRAVELERS over the Spanish Trail at a point east of the fire tower of Hancock county cannot fail to see a plot charred with the remains of what was only yesterday a promising forest of young pine trees, that, apparently, were ruthlessly destroyed by fire.

This now barren place, that gave promise to future growth of stalwart pines, contributing to our forests and wastelands, is dotted with miniature white crosses, giving all semblance of a graveyard. Each little cross marks where once flourished a tree of promise; each marker tells its sad tale and should arouse the apathetic interest and awaken the instinct that makes for a better sense of realization.

Gravest is correct. Here lies perished hope that young trees gave; the promise of betterment for our people and posterity; the lesson of forestation.

The spot is a hideous blot. It reflects naught but carelessness, incendiary and blasted hope for whatever future our lands and that of our children may hold. An indictment of civilization that seems oblivious to natural resource and conservation.

We are indebted to Johnson Shaw, county forester, for this physical exemplification—a lesson that should be brought home to the mind and bosom of every man, woman and child in Hancock county. If we cannot teach by precept we may by example and demonstration, visualizing for others the toll of forest destruction by useless fire.

ARMISTICE DAY—LEST WE FORGET!

THE approach of Armistice Day naturally causes our thoughts to turn backward nineteen years to the memorable announcement that the World War had come to an end.

It should make us reflect upon the mad course of the world since that happy day. The "war to end war" was undoubtedly a failure so far as accomplishing the great idea was concerned but this does not mean, necessarily, that it was entirely in vain.

Today we see a world getting ready to fight. There is no mistake about the intent of several nations although there is some doubt about the time. Already the tide in this country is running against our entanglement and the argument used is the experience that we have had with the diplomats since the great war came to an end.

Whether the United States could have been a potent factor for peace if this country had joined the League of Nations and that agency had functioned as it was intended remains as a matter of angry dispute. Certain it is however, that our course since the World War, has not been successful in preventing the world from approaching the brink of another titanic

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS OF THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLK IN HOLLYWOOD

A PLAY, "The Fight's On," which is now running in London has been purchased as a likely screen vehicle for Irene Dunne.

Lionel Houser's story, "The Girl from Mexico," has been bought by RKO, and Dolores Del Rio, Lupe Velez and Armidra are all being considered for the title lead.

Charles Peck, the 13-year-old boy who has played the rich lad in "Dead End," is to be Chauncey, a farmer's son in "Benefits Forgo."

Mervyn LeRoy is trying to persuade Rafael Sabatini to write the screen version of Jack London's "Sea Wolf."

Another story which is soon to be adapted to the screen is Eric Kastner's "Three Men in the Snow," which is all about an adventurous millionaire posing as a poor man at an inn.

Cary Grant, who co-starred so successfully with Irene Dunne in "The Awful Truth," has three pictures scheduled for the year. The first will be, "Joy of Loving," in which he will again be cast opposite Miss Dunne. The second is "Love and Parole," which has him co-starring with Miriam Hopkins. The third will probably be "Love Below Freezing," with Ruby Keeler.

Paul Muni and his wife arrived in New York during October on the liner Santa Paula for the first stop of a six months' vacation. Their traveling plans are not definite but they will probably visit Scandinavia or Russia. This is Mr. Muni's first visit to New York in two years.

Dartmouth College has added to its curriculum a course in screen script writing as a memorial to Irving Thalberg. Walter Wanger, who is an alumnus of Dartmouth, will supervise the course.

Dennis O'Keefe of "Bad Man of Brimstone," may be leading man for Joan Crawford in "Shop-Worn Angel," which is scheduled for production when Miss Crawford completes her work in "Manequin."

struggle. Whether it will be the means of enabling us to avoid conflict remains to be seen but there is great doubt if this will be the case.

Anyway, there is again upon us the opportunity to pay reverent tribute to the brave souls who gave up their lives for this nation in battle. They deserve the reverent gratitude of a free people and their memory should be enshrined in the hearts of those familiar with the great sacrifice they made. So far as they were concerned, they died in behalf of a noble ideal, enunciated by a great American, and their heroism is not to be slighted because the dream of peace has not yet arrived.

So, The Echo salutes the memory of the departed soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses. Without in any degree glorifying warfare, we glory in their greatness. To them duty made the greatest of demands, that they lay down their lives for their country and their response was a new era in American patriotism. Let us always remember them.

Let us do a little more than remember these dead heroes. They have left behind them loved ones who miss the contribution that their existence might have made to comfort. Let not the nation, or the surviving veterans in their zealous advocacy of pensions and payments to the living, overlook the stranded loved ones who seem not to be organized to serve and conserve.

We are indebted to Johnson Shaw, county forester, for this physical exemplification—a lesson that should be brought home to the mind and bosom of every man, woman and child in Hancock county. If we cannot teach by precept we may by example and demonstration, visualizing for others the toll of forest destruction by useless fire.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are to have as their first new vehicle a musical extravaganza of the Tyrol entitled "Swiss Cheese."

Among the stars who have recently visited the East are Alice Faye, who had a ten day vacation in New York; Lily Pons, who unexpectedly left the set of "Hitting a New High" for a week's vacation at her home in Connecticut, and Grace Moore and her husband, who visited New York. Miss Pons was accompanied by her musical director, Andre Kostelanetz on her trip East.

John and Elaine Barrymore have been signed up by Paramount and will be co-featured in a picture as soon as a suitable one can be found.

Margaret Sullivan will probably play the lead in I. A. R. Wylie's "Road to Reno." Henry Fonda is being sought to play opposite Miss Sullivan, although he is to appear first with Bette Davis in "Jezebel."

Jackie Coogan has been cast in "College Swing." His fiancee Betty Grable, is also in the cast.

SEAFOOD COMMISSION ORDERS OYSTER REEFS CLOSED TEMPORARILY IN ORDER SUPPLY MAY REACH PROPER PRODUCTION

Following a recent inspection of the oyster reefs, the Mississippi seafood commission has decided that the oysters are not sufficiently matured for packing purposes and have passed an ordinance partially closing the reefs for an indefinite period on and after November 3.

This means, it was pointed out, that the reefs are closed for the taking and catching of oysters by means of tongs, dredge or otherwise for delivery to packing plants, pending the further growth of the bivalves.

It does not prohibit the taking of oysters for the purpose of selling and shipping in their raw state from the Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Biloxi and Pascagoula tonging reefs, it was said.

ALL SAINTS' DAY AT LOCAL CEMETERY.

The cemeteries on the Day of All Saints had many visitors throughout the day. Some with fresh griefs, and many whose loved ones had long been gone. But all with a common sorrow. Many of the graves had expensive and beautiful flowers and others some modest bouquet, but it all meant that our loved ones are in our hearts and as long as we live that touch of love will continue.

MRS. C. K. HERLIHY ENTERTAINS AT ALL HALLOWEEN PARTY.

Mrs. C. K. Herlihy entertained at a Halloween party for little Betty Herlihy and her cousins the Chadwicks, Moreres and Mollerres. The table was decorated for the occasion in orange and black with a huge pumpkin in the center. In every window was a pumpkin with a lit candle in it, and which afforded the light for the evening. The refreshments were made to carry out the color scheme. Herlihy Moreres had a concealed electric wire which gave everyone a little shock. The ghost who knew nothing about the wire got some good shocks, and his antics gave the youngsters a big time.

Ronald Colman Heads Cast.

First among the actors, of course, is Ronald Colman, star of such recent pictures as "Under Two Flags," "A Tale of Two Cities," again in "Lost Horizon" the English actor enacts a role of sweeping adventure.

Heading the supporting cast, is Edward Everett Horton, a star in his own right, whose eccentric comedy characters have made him a favorite of millions. H. B. Warner, veteran star, was last seen prominently in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town." Jane Wyatt, who portrays the leading feminine lead opposite Colman, recently played the title role in "The Luckiest Girl in the World."

Sam Jaffe won fame as Kruglein (the fellow with only two hours to live) in the stage hit "Grand Hotel," and was the Mad Czar Peter in "The Scarlet Empress."

FRANK CAPRA'S LONG-AWAITED "LOST HORIZON" TO BE AT A. & G.

Ronald Colman Stars in Diskin's Adaptation of James Hilton's World-Famed Novel.

What promises to be one of the most important screen events of the year takes place at the A. & G. Theater next Sunday and Monday, when Columbia's Frank Capra production of "Lost Horizon" makes its long-awaited bow at popular prices following its sensational nation-wide roadshow tour.

Starring Ronald Colman, and featuring Edward Everett Horton, H. B. Warner, Jane Wyatt, Margo, John Howard, Thomas Mitchell, Isabel Jewell, Sam Jaffe in the much discussed High Lama role, the picture is an adaptation by Robert Riskin of James Hilton's celebrated novel of the same name.

Briefly, the story of "Lost Horizon" concerns five persons who are kidnapped in an airplane in China, and flown deep into the heart of Forbidden Tibet. Picked up by a caravan headed by a mystic and elderly Chinese, they are escorted to what is perhaps the most unusual place on the face of the earth—the lamassery of Shangri-La.

Here, cloistered securely by mountains impenetrable to the uninitiated, is a setting of indescribable beauty and serenity, peopled by members of the strangest cult of modern times. Romance and adventure fall to the bewildered kidnap victims, and soon, all but one surrender to the utter contentment and rare loveliness that is Shangri-La.

On the technical side, there are Frank Capra and Robert Riskin, director and writer of such prize-winning films as "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "It Happened One Night" and "Lady for a Day." James Hilton, author of the original novel, also wrote "Goodbye Mr. Chips;" Joseph Walker, noted photographer of Capra's greatest successes; Harrison Forman, American explorer and author, who acted as advisor on the Tibetan phases of the film; and Dimitri Tiomkin, internationally known composer, who wrote the musical score.

GULF THEATER TO PRESENT TWO BIG SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Vast Contrast Seen in Films Of Joe E. Brown and Kay Francis.

Hold Everything! Alexander Botts is heading this way. Yes sir, and he will arrive at the Gulf Theater on Sunday, November 7, for a two-day show in his most comical, story "Earthworm Tractors."

At last that miraculous brainchild of Mr. William Hazlett Upson comes to the screen in the form of that intimitable comedian, Joe E. Brown.

If you enjoyed the super-colossal salesman of the Saturday Evening Post series, then you will not want to miss seeing him on the screen, he is bigger, better and funnier than ever before.

The story is built around an enthusiastic young salesman who undertakes to endeavor to sell earthworm tractors to farmers. His merry madantics and rollicking adventure as he jumps from the flying pan into the fire is an assurance to make you forget your worries. Others included in this grand show are Guy Kibbe who supplies many of the laughs and gets into many difficult situations, and adorable June Travis, the heart aches of our mirthful character. Forget your cares and see how Alexander botts "always makes his sale."

But now let us turn to the more serious side of life, and a bit to the tragic, in "I Found Stella Parish," starring Kay Francis.

The story by John Monk Saunders concerns the hidden life of a brilliant but mysterious actress who has risen to the pinnacle of success and is the sensation of all London.

During a play in which she is starred, her life is threatened with ruination for the second time by her insanely jealous husband, Baron MacLane, who has once before involved her in one of his crimes.

Fearing the safety of her child, Sybil Jason, and her newly gotten reputation, she flees to America where she is persuaded by Ian Hunter, a brilliant journalist.

During their acquaintance she falls in love with him and reveals the secrets of her life. Thinking only of the sensation it would cause he tells the story to his paper. On learning of this Stella's love turns to hate, and to prove that she is even worse than he has already painted her to be, she starts on a personal appearance tour of America, finally reaching the burlesque stage.

After a tedious struggle with her inward emotions, she consents to return to London and take up the role she ran away from. Her confidence is shattered, yet this is her big chance, perhaps her only chance to make comeback, which ends in a smashing climax.

Others in important roles are Paul Lukas, as the man in love with her and producer of the play she left, and Jessie Ralph who took care of her daughter.

At last Kay Francis has found the role in which to express her true emotional abilities. Warner Bros. has found a big hit, and America has found "its" story in "I Found Stella Parish."

These two grand shows at the Gulf Theater offer patrons both sides of life, and especially good entertainment is assured. The 7 and 9 and 10 are the respective dates.

CHANCERY SUMMONS

THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI.

—Success from every angle is evident the revival this week at the First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis, of which the Rev. W. S. Allen is pastor. The Rev. A. C. Parker of Hattiesburg conducts the exercises and each day preaches to large and responsive gatherings. The revival will come to a close this Friday evening. Public invited.

—Reports from New Orleans where Mrs. Leo E. Kenney is with her young daughter, Irma Louise, who suffered a severe attack of bronchial affection, and is at a hospital are to the effect the charming and interesting young Miss is rapidly recovering and expects to be home the early part of next week, awaiting a consultation of specialists in order to discover means of avoiding another such serious attack.

—The Gulf Chevrolet Company, Main and Frtnt streets, is displaying quite a line of 1938 models and is ready to make instant deliveries on ready styles and colors. This is quite a stock of new cars to be brought to this city so early in advance and for design and beauty and desirability as to construction and improvement the Chevrolet has won the admiration of the general public. Mr. Voight or his salesmen will be glad to give demonstration.

—Bridges over Wolf river and Bayou Portege have been reconstructed over in Beat 3, Harrison county, officially represented by Supervisor Emile J. Adams, who resides at Pass Christian. New draw sections replace the old ones and travelers from Bay St. Louis to Pine Hills and that vicinity find the improvement of added convenience. Supervisor Adam is a most intense worker for the public good.

—A system of Superlane gas for heating purposes was installed the past week in the Merchants Bank & Trust Company's building, equipping both floors. Young Billy (W. L.) Bourgeois, resident representative, was given the contract, executed a most satisfactory manner. The new system replaces the former separate heaters in the building and will prove a matter of better and more uniform heating at less cost.

—Mrs. W. A. McDonald returned home from Port Gibson, Miss., Friday from a visit to the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Gray, the former at one time pastor of the Bay St. Louis Methodist church. Mrs. McDonald was accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Buckley, in whose care the trip was made. Both ladies are warm, personal friends of Mrs. Gray and the visit was one of more than ordinary interest and pleasure.

—Hancock county is very much in the limelight of building and construction news. Attracting considerable attention is the construction of the new highway shortcut, hard-surfacing the one recently cut thru and completed and now the lines for rural electrification. Major projects in which many thousands of dollars are involved and engaging vast groups of labor. All making for payrolls and circulating new money through local channels.

—ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The Echo appreciates complimentary tickets to the luncheon and football game to mark Homecoming Day at L. S. U. Saturday of this week, coming from President J. M. Smith. Celebration this year will combine homecoming and "Mississippi Day," and will be featured by a luncheon given by the L. S. U. "Mississippi Club" in honor of the governors of two states and the presidents of the two schools.

CARD OF THANKS.

We sincerely thank all for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in the recent death of my dear husband and father.

Personal and General

A MOST enjoyable children's All Hallowe'en party was given Sunday night by the young sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Favre at the family home in Main street, and to which some forty young people attended. Decorations were appropriate to the occasion, not forgetting the jack o'lanterns and other decoration features associated with the night when ghosts and goblins are alleged to invade space and atmosphere where mortals dwell. It was the first party of the kind, and will long be remembered by both guests and the juvenile hosts.

YOUNG MEMBERS OF
OF MISS WEIR.

A very enjoyable Hallowe'en party was given by Miss Flora Weir on Friday night, October 29. All members of the B. T. U. were present, together with a number of invited guests. After the usual games suitable for such an occasion had been played to the amusement and enjoyment of everyone, Miss Weir served delicious fruit-punch, cake and candy. Goodbyes were said and many thanks for a very pleasant evening.

A Hint to Bay St.
Louis and Other Towns
And Cities From Jackson

The News says that the Jackson chamber of commerce has launched early plans for extensive decorative lighting of downtown Jackson during the Christmas holiday season.

Chairman T. J. Luke of the committee handling the lighting, said a number of innovations are planned this year in the effects obtained.

Jackson was one of the first American cities to employ living Christmas trees brilliant with lights throughout the business district at the holiday season. It has been widely copied.

Such decorations by business houses and the city in general does not only create a better spirit for the yuletide but stimulates business and subsequent profits far in excess of the cost of such decorations. The hope is here expressed that Bay St. Louis will outdo itself this year in outdoor and business house illumination.

However, it must be done now. Last week advertising misses early trade that goes out of town. It is the last-minute shopper who frequently is forced to buy at home and that only is for some forgotten article.

Biloxi Mayor Confers
With Officials For Motorcade to Chicago.

Biloxi Braun of Biloxi was in conference this week with officials in Jackson the past few days relative to the proposed automobile motorcade to be made from the Mississippi Coast to Chicago, immediately after the completion of the paved highway from the coast to Memphis.

This will give a completely paved highway to Chicago, a distance of over 1,000 miles which will be traveled by thousands of tourists. The purpose of the motorcade will be to give publicity to the northern states of the completion of this excellent highway, which will bring heavy traffic this way.

Christmas Fiesta
For December Twelfth
Announced by Club

The Ladies of the Parents Club of St. Joseph Academy are busy as bees making preparation for the Christmas fiesta to be held Sunday, December 12, 1937 at St. Joseph's Gymnasium.

There will be amusement for young and old and plenty handmade fancy work, aprons, towels, luncheon sets and nice things for Christmas gifts.

The Christmas fiesta is given for the benefit of the school fund.

Hearty co-operation to make it a big success is solicited.

Remember the date—December 12, 1937—the place St. Joseph's Gym and come to the Christmas fiesta—enjoy a pleasant evening and help a worthy cause.

to remain to better visualize the enormity of the outrage and possibly to stir such emotions as would bring justice quickly, the guilty ones.

However, for All Saints the damaged figure was removed and only the simple wooden cross served as the symbol of the promise of the resurrection.

The monumental tomb of the Italian society of the Immaculate Conception stood out prominently with its surface of renewed white and flowers were in abundance. Other tombs and plots nearby and on thru the cemetery served as manifestations of all the tenderness and love the day brings to both the heart and mind.

The blanket of flowers that covered both cemeteries, so to speak, seemed to reflect the glory of the promised resurrection and mitigate the sorrow and sadness of the day.
